No Doubt U.S. to Cut Forces in Europe

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question does not seem to be whether the United States will reduce its combat forces in Europe, but how soon it will be done.

The State Department is concerned over a recent speech by a top ranking Pentagon official which dealt, among other things, with "evolutionary changes" ahead for units deployed overseas. And it is anxious to get word out that no immediate troop reduction in Europe is planned.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is expected to use the occasion of a visit to West Germany during the next few days to make a formal announcement. It will be aimed at calming alarm in West German government quarters, evidenced by a request for clarification on the speech of Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric in Chicago.

In that speech, Gilpatric talked about change in the size and type of forces overseas which "lies ahead" and said the current test of 15,000 troops to Europe demonstrates the capability to deploy military power far faster and longer than ever before.

Gilpatric and others have talked publicly and privately on several occasions about improved strategic deployment capabilities, with implications that economics and other factors were pointing to an eventual cut in forces abroad.

But the Saturday speech was almost on the eve of the dramatic Exercise Big Lift demonstration and test. It was followed closely by an Army announcement that atomic arms for ground forces in Europe and elsewhere overseas would be increased—something that suggested there was a way to maintain the same amount of defensive firepower with fewer men.

There are now five Army divisions and other units amounting to the strength of a sixth division deployed in West Germany. The total manpower of the U.S. ground forces there is about 250,000.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has insisted that no immediate cutback in combat strength in Europe is planned. But he also has decided that some of the non-combat strength can be brought home.

Channel Quake Rocks England

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — An earthquake under the English Channel rocked towns and villages for 50 miles around today. There were no injuries or serious damage.

Instruments at the Kew Observatory in London indicated the underwater center of the tremor was about 20 miles south of Portsmouth. As earthquakes go this was a mere baby. England has such minor tremors once every two or three years.

The earth vibrations, felt in dozens of communities along England's South Coast, at first gave rise to rumors that a meteorite had fallen in the channel or that a ship had blown up.

Freshman Dies Unexpectedly

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — David Wiley, 18, of Pine Bluff, a freshman student at Arkansas State Teachers College on a basketball scholarship, died suddenly today in a Conway hospital.

The cause of his death was not determined. Hospital officials said Wiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wiley, complained of headaches Monday and entered the hospital Thursday night.

Expectant Mother Takes Car Looters

NEW YORK (AP) — A policeman, six months pregnant, helped capture two car looters during a hectic chase Thursday. She fired two shots and knocked down one fugitive with her gun but as he struggled with a detective.

Mrs. Marie Cirile, 35, was cruising in a patrol car with two detectives in the Greenwich Village area when they spotted two men in a parking lot. Police said the pair had just broken into a car and were taking out a suitcase and an armful of clothes.

The detectives leaped from the squad car and one captured a suspect after a fist fight. The other man fled. Mrs. Cirile fired a shot and drove the police car onto the sidewalk to corner him. She fired a second shot as her detective companion ran up and grappled with the man. As they wrestled, Mrs. Cirile clubbed the suspect with her gun butt.

Mrs. Cirile, the mother of a 9-year-old daughter, is scheduled to begin maternity leave next week.

"I'm slightly shook up," she said later. "This is only the second time I've had to use my gun, although I've had to pull it many times."

Figures Civilization Has 37 More Years Before It Will Fall on Its Face, Go Boom

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, friends, enjoy Western civilization while you can. In 37 more years it will fall down and go boom.

This is the prediction of C. Northcote Parkinson, British historian and gaffly of bureaucrats everywhere.

"In the past," he said, "the burden of taxation and bureaucratic incompetence built up to a point where the civilization collapsed, as in the case of the Roman Empire."

"Historically, that seems to be the way the story ends—and we're headed that way. I don't mean our civilization will collapse tomorrow. It's a matter of time."

"I'd say—about the year 2,000—plus or minus, but that's just a guess."

Parkinson believes that by then Eastern civilization will have overtaken the technological lead now held by Western civilization, and then become the dominant culture. It is the thesis of his latest book—that throughout history East and West have alternately ruled.

But no one is more cheerful in the face of potential doom than a jolly Englishman with a good digestion. And Parkinson faces the future with aplomb.

"The decay of one civilization is as important as the expansion of another civilization," he remarked. "In my view this theory."

"With all of the pulpwood, sawlogs, poles, piling and other wood products produced in Hempstead County there shouldn't be any doubt of the importance which wood plays in the County," so stated George F. Brown of the Soil Conservation Service.

"Also we should recognize the fact that woodlands occupy the major portion of the land area in Hempstead County. That's approximately 59% of the total acreage or 275,478 acres of the County's 323,407 acres."

The next nearest land uses are cropland with 19% and pasture with 18%. By 1975 we expect a slight change. We believe woodlands will drop 3 to 4% to occupy 55% of Hempstead County's total acreage.

And it is probable that by 1975 pasture land use will exceed cropland by 4 to 5%. This is not to say that we in the Soil Conservation Service favor any one type of land use. We feel that it is strictly the owners' decision how he will manage his land. For some owners cropland or pasture land may be the best use.

For some owners particularly the absentee owner total woodland use may be the answer since woodlands requires less attention or management than crop or pasture. A good combination however is to have all three: woodlands, pasture and cropland. This is what might be described as not having 'all of your eggs in one basket'. Or what is better known as diversified farming," George Brown stated.

In simple woodland stumpage values the 275,478 acres in woods represents a large potential for the County's many woodland owners. For example if we grew nothing but pulpwood these woodland could grow, under average management conditions, one cord of pulpwood per acre per year. At $5 per cord on the stump that would be $1,377,390 each year. This would only account for part of the money since an additional $8 to $9 per cord would be made by the cutters and haulers. In other words a total of $13-$14 is made out for every cord of pulpwood cut in the county. And this is money that the butcher, the baker and everyone benefits.

All woodland are now growing pulpwood since some woodlands are producing sawlogs, veneer logs, poles, piling and other wood products. And generally these products will bring more money than pulpwood. The point here is that farmers and woodland owners need not manage their woodland for just pulpwood. They can thin their woodlands to allow for faster tree growth in sawlogs and sell the thinnings for pulpwood.

Or for owners who have straight and high quality trees may make more money selling some of these trees for poles to make more money. We in the Soil Conservation Service are Goldwater's travels have few of the trappings of a campaign. He says most of his speaking dates, from Massachusetts to Texas, to California and Oregon were made long before the Republican presidential pot began boiling.

Goldwater says he's logged a million miles for the Republican cause, running up an air travel bill that averages $10,000 a year.

Amid talk that he is veering toward the middle of the road in the gathering battle for the nomination, Goldwater said once more that he hasn't changed his ideas—people are just starting to pay some attention to them.

"My basic conservative philosophy remains the same," said Goldwater.

He summed it up this way: "You make your progress based on the known and proven values of the past."

Most of the time, the senator and his wife have been traveling alone, or with only one aide. But now he's thinking of sending along more help.

The senator's political audiences have been receptive, if not wildly enthusiastic. Much of the noise they make is stirred up by youthful Goldwater fans.

But Goldwater says crowds-manship and polls don't win nominations—and primary elections don't guarantee delegate support. He points to the fate of the last conservative champion to bid for the White House, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who lost the nomination to Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Goldwater's travels usually are weekend journeys or one-night stands. And he insists they haven't kept him away from his work at the Capitol.

Tito in Tribute to Mrs. FDR

NEW YORK (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia sent his ambassador to the United States to Hyde Park, N.Y., today to place a wreath on the graves of former President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A group of New York City detectives provided an escort for the ambassador, Veljko Micunovic, and Miroslav Krecacic, Yugoslav consul general to New York, who accompanied him.

It was the second time in two days that the New York City police had sent an escort outside the city for the Yugoslavs.

They provided a guard Wednesday when Tito, visiting in New York, took a countryside drive.

Israeli Violinist Wildly Applauded

MOSCOW (AP) — Ivri Gitlis, an Israeli violinist, was applauded so long and loud at the Moscow Conservatory that he had to play eight encores to quiet the audience.

Gitlis was the first Israeli to play in Russia as part of a cultural exchange program.

White House Ignored by Goldwater

EDITOR'S NOTE — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination, have been criss-crossing the nation expounding their political views. Neither is an announced candidate at this point, but they are giving thousands of voters a look at their campaign techniques. How do they operate? What have they been saying? Associated Press reporters who have traveled with them provide an assessment—today, how Goldwater ticks; Friday, a story on Rockefeller.

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Advice from the White House cuts no ice these days with Sen. Barry Goldwater. But the political formula the Arizona Republican follows is in line with an unsolicited tip from President Kennedy.

Goldwater, a possibility for the GOP presidential nomination next year, has spanned the continent twice on a hectic two-weekend round of speaking engagements.

Kennedy said two weeks ago Goldwater could win the GOP nomination, but it would take "a trying seven or eight months which will test his endurance and his perseverance and his ability."

The formula is one that has made Goldwater a champion among Republican fund-raisers. He says it has acquainted him with Republican workers from coast to coast, and he credits that for his showing in the public opinion polls.

Rockefeller Wants Political Probe in County

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller took his first step into politics in his home county Thursday night—calling for an investigation by the Arkansas Bar Association of the Conway County political situation.

The National Republican Committeeman from Arkansas generally has had little to say about home county politics. But he told a GOP rally at the College of the Ozarks Thursday night that he had been watching the situation.

Politics in the county has been highlighted in recent years by a running feud between Gene Wirges, editor of the Morrilton Democrat, and elected officials.

In his speech, Rockefeller said: "Frankly, just from newspaper accounts, I believe the situation has reached a stage where the proper committees of the Arkansas Bar Association and the Judiciary should investigate conditions there and determine if the minimum standards of personal liberty and political freedom guaranteed by the constitution are being preserved."

In a recent development in Conway County, Circuit Judge Wiley Bean cited Marion B. Burton, a North Little Rock attorney and former GOP official, for contempt of court for refusing to answer some questions during a recess in a trial of a libel suit against Wirges.

Burton was jailed last Monday, after freed, and Bean said Burton could have a hearing on the citation at his convenience. Burton has not said when that would be.

The trial ended with a $75,000 judgment against Wirges, in favor of County Clerk C. C. Brewer. Other suits filed by and against Wirges are pending.

Thursday, Wirges asked the Arkansas Supreme Court to reconsider its order dismissing his petition for a writ of mandamus against Bean.

Wirges asked the court to make Bean tell the circuit clerk to prepare a transcript of a March 19, 1963, proceeding in which Wirges said he was "dressed down" by the judge.

In his reconsideration motion, Wirges said he had not had a chance to be heard on the petition itself.

Bean lives at Clarksville, where Rockefeller spoke Thursday night.

Wirges' opponents have contended frequently that he has received financial help from Rockefeller.

Negro Escapes a Second Time

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — Charles McMillan, a Negro who escaped from the Ashley County Jail at Hamburg several weeks ago, has made his way to freedom again. He was to have been tried today.

He broke out of the Crossett jail Wednesday night, leaving a note that he had assistance in getting out. Sheriff Guy Morman said three locks had been broken at the jail.

McMillan was being held for safekeeping pending trial today on a charge of forgery. McMillan made his way into Texas after the Hamburg escape before being picked up.

Benson Named to Head Mission

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture during the Eisenhower administration, has been appointed president of the European missions of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon). His headquarters will be at Frankfurt, Germany.

Benson is a member of the Mormon Church's Council of Twelve Apostles.

Jess Collins, 74, Resident of Spring Hill Dies

Jess Collins, aged 74, a lifelong resident of Spring Hill, died at his home Thursday.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alline Collins; two daughters, Mrs. Vernon Brown and Mrs. Garland Kidd, both of Spring Hill and a brother, Fred Collins of Spring Hill.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Spring Hill Methodist Church by the Rev. Claud Hines. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius will be in Bethany Cemetery.

Thinks Ban Treaty Is Promising

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, told Nikita Khrushchev today the limited nuclear test-ban treaty promises fresh East-West agreements to end the arms race.

It was Sir Alec's first message to the Soviet premier since he replaced Harold Macmillan as head of the government on Oct. 19.

The former foreign secretary was replying to a note Khrushchev had sent Macmillan on the occasion of ratification of the test-ban treaty.

Most of the Nation Still Has Drought

CHICAGO (AP) — Rainy, windy weather hit areas along the Southeast coast and showers fell in the Pacific Northwest and central areas today but clear to partly cloudy skies prevailed in most other parts of the nation.

Hurricane Ginny, centered about 135 miles south of Charleston, S.C., set off moderate rain and strong winds along coastal areas of Georgia and South Carolina. Gale warnings were displayed as Ginny moved northward.

Storms over the Pacific Northwest tapered off and only showers were reported in scattered sections. Another belt of showers extended from Texas to Lake Superior. Rainfall amounts were mostly light.

Dry and unseasonably warm weather continued in most of the nation's drought belt covering areas from the southern Plains into New England. Record high temperatures for Oct. 24—in the 80s—were reported in many areas in the eastern half of the nation Thursday.

The drought has increased demands from farmers for emergency loans. The Agriculture Department's Farmers' Home Administration in Washington already has designated 452 counties in 20 states as areas in which it will offer loans to producers unable to secure loans from other sources.

The emergency drought loan areas include 78 counties in Virginia, 59 in Texas, 42 each in Pennsylvania and Mississippi, 39 in New York and 30 in Michigan. Other states included Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, West Virginia and Wyoming.

"We didn't go out on deck after Sunday morning. It was blowing too hard."

"The only time I was concerned was when the tow line parted Saturday night about 11 o'clock. As we rode it out our confidence grew and we never doubted we'd come out of it. A couple of the new fellows got seasick. There were no injuries."

Ganey, who has been in the Navy 20 years, said he had been at sea in four previous hurricanes and that hurricane Ginny was not the worst he had encountered.

R. F. Parton, 61, Dies in Tenn.

Robert Franklin Parton, 61, formerly of Hope, died Wednesday at Cleveland, Tenn.

Survivors include two sons, James W. and Emmett Parton of Cleveland; three daughters, Bessie and Dessie Bryant of Vandalia, Ill., Mrs. Lois Bryant of Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. May Gratiot of Spring Hill and Mrs. Ann Terry of Dallas; three stepsons and a stepdaughter.

Services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Herndon-Cornelius Chapel and burial will be in Water Creek Cemetery near Guernsey.

Doesn't Want to Be President

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, often mentioned as a dark horse Republican presidential candidate, said in Pittsburgh he does not want to be president.

He told a news conference: "I'm not putting myself up as any kind of candidate. I don't want to be president."

Hurricane Ginny Aims Might at Carolina Coast

Weary Crew Tells About Sea Ordeal

By HARRY NASH

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Bone-tired and red-eyed the 10-man riding crew of the decommissioned destroyer escort USS Fog told today how they rolled 50 degrees in 40-foot seas in the hurricane whipped Atlantic.

"Sleep was something we didn't get too much of," CWO Walter F. Ganey, 39, of Norfolk, told newsmen after a joyous reunion on a pier with his wife and three children.

The Fog arrived at 2 a.m. (EST) in tow of the Navy tug Kiowa. The Coast Guard cutter Chilula took the powerless Fog in tow off the North Carolina coast Tuesday morning, 60 hours after a line parted as the Fog was being towed by a Navy tug from Portsmouth, to Orange, Tex., to join the reserve fleet. The Kiowa took over the tow job from the Chilula near Cape Henry, Va., Thursday.

"Our radio went out Friday night," Ganey said. "We lost our generator Saturday night. Flashlights and battle lanterns were the only lights we had."

"We had no hot meals from Saturday night until Wednesday morning. We ate cereal and peanut butter sandwiches. We had plenty of uncooked food but it was too rough to cook on our gas camp stoves."

"The ship rolled as much as 50 degrees. The worst weather was Monday night, when the wind was 60 to 75 miles an hour and the swells were about 40 feet."

"We didn't go out on deck after Sunday morning. It was blowing too hard."

"The only time I was concerned was when the tow line parted Saturday night about 11 o'clock. As we rode it out our confidence grew and we never doubted we'd come out of it. A couple of the new fellows got seasick. There were no injuries."

Ganey, who has been in the Navy 20 years, said he had been at sea in four previous hurricanes and that hurricane Ginny was not the worst he had encountered.

Some Rain Moving Across State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A wave of light showers was expected to move eastward across Arkansas today, the Weather Bureau said, but they were expected to be too scattered to give any general relief to the drought.

The Weather Bureau said harvesting in the delta area would not be affected.

The showers moved into western Arkansas Thursday night. The only measurable rain at a Weather Bureau station was a tenth of an inch at Fort Smith and three tenths of an inch at Fayetteville.

The forecast called for partly cloudy and mild through Saturday with a few isolated thunderstorms. Low temperatures tonight were expected to be between 52 and 62 and highs Saturday, between 80 and 86.

Highs Thursday were in the 80s, except in portions of Northeast Arkansas were readings in the high 70s were common.

The Weather Bureau said rainfall over the state in the next few days would be in the form of scattered showers, and that the drought would retain its grip.

Compromise Rights Bill Elusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise civil rights bill on which Republicans and Democrats can agree continued to elude the administration today.

A bipartisan band on the House Judiciary Committee, favoring a stronger bill than the administration wants, showed no sign of weakening despite President Kennedy's personal intervention.

Evacuation of a 100-mile stretch of South Carolina's beach areas was urged today as hurricane Ginny's 100 mile-an-hour winds bore down on the coast.

The unpredictable Atlantic storm was expected to make its landfall late tonight. The "eye" may strike to the southwest of Cape Fear, N.C., near the South Carolina line.

Coastal radar and air reconnaissance located the center of Ginny at noon about 65 miles southeast of Charleston.

The storm was moving on a northerly course of 8 miles per hour, the Weather Bureau said. Highest winds were estimated at 100 m.p.h. over a small area near the center. Gales extend outward 175 miles over the ocean and about 100 miles southeast of the center.

Most low-lying areas in the Charleston vicinity were evacuated before noon. Many persons who fled their homes moved into 30 public shelters opened in the area. The shelters, equipped with first aid supplies and nurses, can handle 7,000 persons.

Catholic Changes Reviewed
By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
Protestant leaders say the Roman Catholic reforms being weighed at the Vatican Ecumenical Council could bring a new era of Christian partnership. The benefits "are already apparent for all Christendom," says Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia, president of the World Methodist Council. If the influence of Roman Catholic forces supporting reciprocal unity efforts is further extended, "the consequences for all Christians are incalculable," says Presbyterian theologian, the Rev. Dr. James Hastings Nichols, of Princeton Seminary. Comments the Rev. Dr. Frederick Grant, of New York, an Episcopal Biblical scholar: "A wholly new spirit has come over interchurch and interfaith relations. May we never slip back into the old ways of separation, mutual distrust and antagonism." The roundup of Protestant reactions was assembled in the October issue of the Roman Catholic Monthly, The Sign, from Protestant delegate - observers now attending the Vatican Council's second session. The Rev. Dr. Jose Miguel Bono, director of the Evangelical Theological faculty of Buenos Aires, Argentina, said the council is "the visible sign of the most important new fact in the history of Christianity." William Hubben, of Philadelphia, Pa., representing the Friends World Committee (Quakers), said the council marked the advent of a "new Christian era." "The increasing Catholic interest in matters of Biblical scholarship should lead to a continuous cooperation or even to joint enterprises between the two great denominations," he said. Several of the Protestants expressed hope that the council will take action to put the church of Rome firmly behind policies of religious liberty, and remove restrictions involving marriage between Protestants and Catholics. "Vatican II now has the potential of creating a new spiritual revolution," says the Rev. Dr. Stanley J. Stuber, of Jefferson City, Mo., a Baptist, representing the Missouri Council of Churches.

FOR YOUR TRIP

BUSINESS OR PLEASURE

Taking a trip by auto, train, bus, plane or boat? Don't leave without protecting your family and yourself against the financial shock of possible accidental injuries during your trip.

Hartford's TripGuard Accident Policy gives you 24-hour-a-day protection against accidental injury expense during your entire trip . . . while you're going, while you're there, on your way back. You can buy this low-cost insurance to cover you and your family for as little as three days or as long as six months, depending upon how long you'll be traveling. It's wonderful protection for hunting, fishing or other sports trips, too.

The policy does not cover loss caused or contributed to by: disease; intentionally self-inflicted injuries or suicide; war or act of war; military, test or experimental aircraft; as a pilot, student pilot or crew member of an aircraft; hernia; professional athletics.

Check the coverages and low premiums below and mail us your TRIPGUARD application.

new name, new size, new style, new spirit,
new car!

New CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

Only this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. The Chevelle is a highly polished car on a trim 115-inch wheelbase. Remarkably agile and easy to handle and park. But it's roomy inside, with many of the comforts you'd expect in a bigger car. Its ride comes from the people who developed the Jet-smooth kind. Its four engines—V8 or 6—carry that irrepressible Chevrolet spirit all the way up to 220 hp.* Its lively, graceful styling and body by Fisher craftsmanship make its modest price all the more remarkable. And it comes in three series and eleven models—wagons, sedans, sport coupes, convertibles. Want to check further? Consider this your invitation for a real hood-raising, door-slaming, seat-bouncing, wheel-turning time of it at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Wesleyan Guild Holds Mission Study Series

"The Changing City Challenges the Church" was the Mission Study for Wesleyan Service Guild No. 2, First Methodist Church, held this week in the homes of Mrs. Jamie Russell, Miss Mary Anita Laseter, Mrs. Roy Bagley, and Mrs. H. O. Kyles. Outstanding speakers each night reviewed the book, "The Cities Glorious" by Lawrence W. Jansson.

On the first evening of this series of meetings, Dr. Lester Sitzes explained the three-fold meaning of "church," the Body of Christ, the local congregation, and the building. After citing some of the problems of young married couples as related to a city church, the speaker pointed out that the only mission of the church was to tell others about Christ. Miss Mary Louise Copeland brought the devotional message, and the 15 present included three other guests, Mrs. Dexter Bailey, Mrs. Clyde H. Davis, and Miss Shirley Brewer. After Mrs. Hinton Davis had brought the devotional message, the second speaker, Miss Clarice Cannon, spoke on the cities themselves, their growth and development. She said, "It is the attitudes of the people that makes the difference in the cities toward religious holidays, the Sabbath, and secular things.

A new standard of living and a mobile population present additional problems." Guild members were joined by three guests besides the speaker. They were Mrs. Clyde H. Davis, Miss Shirley Brewer, and Mrs. Webb Laseter.

Two guest speakers brought the third message. They were Miss Poleda Glanton and Mrs. Roy Bagley. Their subject was the Types of Ministry of Cities. Miss Glanton told the group about a visit to various church-related groups in Little Rock which she and others at a School of Missions had made this summer. Mrs. Bagley gave pointers about the downtown churches versus the suburban churches as well as rural district problems. The devotional message was given by Mrs. Forrest Hutson, and the members and guest speakers were also joined by Miss Shirley Brewer.

The familiar phrase, "How do you read me?" which "ham" radio operators use, was likened to the present day questions asked by Christians regarding their witness in the changing times, according to the Rev. Gladwin Connell at the last of the study sessions. Following an inspiring devotion brought by Miss Troy Hammons, the Rev. Connell stressed the importance of communicating the message of Christ to the world as our part of Christian witnessing. In conclusion the 14 present were divided into three groups to answer "How can our church fulfill with faithfulness its mission in the city?" Besides the guild members and the guest speaker, Mrs. J. R. Williams of Harrisburg, Mrs. Clyde H. Davis, and Mrs. Raymond Franks were also guests.

Dorcas SS Class Meets

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of Garrett Memorial Church met in the home of Mrs. Jack Watkins, a former member of this class, on October 17th. Her home was decorated inside and outside in the Halloween theme. All came in costume.

Mrs. Willie Beard, Vice-President, conducted a short business session which was concluded with prayer by Gwen Frith. The hostess presented interesting and instructive quiz games.

Mrs. Jettie Lloyd, Mrs. Johnnie Green, Mrs. Bob Massingill and Mrs. Paul Church were visitors. The hostess served a dessert plate with punch and coffee to the 15 present.

LOTUS powered by FORD

From the ear-splitting roar of the speedways... comes Ford's solid, silent total performance '64

'64 Fairlane — family-size room . . . sports-car feel. Eight models . . . power choice up to 271-hp V-8!

What is total performance? Our hot new '64 Fairlane is a beautiful example.

Its optional 195-hp V-8 engine is so spirited, it's been adapted for the Cobra sports car. And a special version powered the Lotus racing cars (above) that made history in the last Indianapolis 500.

No wonder this modestly priced family car has such a distinctly sports car feel!

And that's typical of the ruggedness, handling and response of the whole new Ford line for '64—Fairlanes, Falcons and Super Torque Fords—all honed and improved in open competition. Now it's your turn to test-drive them!

DOROTHY DIX

HER PROBLEM IS NO PROBLEM

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I was once crazy about a boy who acted as if I were plain zero. Now he's crazy about me and I couldn't care less.

He is buying me a ring and this has me real scared. I'm not ready for that kind of love. I mind my manners, don't flirt and keep my head. Even though most boys, including this one, ask to kiss me, I refuse saying, "I'd have to really care a lot first and frankly, I don't." Instead of discouraging them they try all the harder to impress me. There is a dance coming off in a couple of weeks and this boy who's giving me the ring, wants me to come with my brother and meet him there. I'd like to go and dance with all the boys but hesitate to for fear of hurting him. What shall I tell him—Desperate?

Dear Desperate: Why describe yourself as "desperate" when actually you are in a most enviable position. You're fancy free and you've hit upon the magic formula for inciting maximum masculine interest. The boy who has bought you a ring shouldn't have you "scared." A gift involves two people—the donor and the recipient. If you politely but firmly refuse to be the latter, there is no reason for anyone to be hurt.

Go to the party, dance with all the boys whom ask you, and tell the boy with the ring exactly what you've written me—that you're "not ready for that kind of love." His pride may be piqued, but he'll recover, and either return the ring to the shop where he bought it, or save it for future use. However, don't burn your bridges behind you by cutting him off altogether. You may change your mind about him again and then be writing to ask what you can do to win him back.

The secret of the polite refusal is to season it with sincere regret. Kindness and consideration in dealing with people not only add to your stature as a human being but also add immeasurably to the success of your social life. This doesn't mean that you have to obsequiously flatter. On the contrary, be honest—with a smile.

Play the field! This has been my battle cry for years. But, unfortunately, it mostly falls on deaf ears of the current crop of teenagers. How can a girl or boy decide on a life partner without benefit of choosing from as wide a selection as possible.

Dear Helen: My chum is beginning to act like a sissy. Our friends think he's been around his mother too much and, being an only child, gets overpampered. We've tried mimicking him but, although quite smart, he doesn't get the picture. I fear loss of popularity if he continues to tag after me. Should I tell him—A Friend?

Dear Friend: If you think it will help him, go ahead and tell him about the effect he produces on others. Since mimicry has not caused the desired reaction, try the direct approach. You haven't much to lose!

Texas-Rice Game Tops in Conference

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Let it be known that the nation's No. 1 team hasn't always been upset in the Southwest Conference, but it has been a quarter of a century since it wasn't.

Which is small consolation to Texas as it faces bitterer enemy Rice at Austin Saturday night in the conference's big game, one that will have profound effect on where the championship is to go.

Texas, Southern Methodist and Texas A&M have felt the lash of the upset in the period since Texas A&M last won the national championship in 1939.

Texas got back into the act only last year when a winless Rice played Texas, then riding at No. 1 in the nation, to a 14-14 tie and ruined the Longhorns' ambitions to become the conference's first national king since the late thirties.

Rice isn't expected to repeat the trick and Texas says it isn't worried. But there'll be a sell-out 64,000 in Memorial Stadium wanting to be on hand just in case.

Texas and Rice are two of three teams unbeaten in the conference. The other is Baylor, which plays always tough (for Baylor) Texas A&M at College Station Saturday afternoon. The aggies apparently aren't going anywhere but the Bears hope they won't be taking them with them.

Southern Methodist, having to win to avoid elimination from the race meets Texas Tech in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas at the same time. Tech isn't going anywhere either and the Methodists hope the Red Raiders don't take them with them either.

It's quite possible that the conference will have only one leader after Saturday. That would be the winner of the Texas-Rice game provided Baylor loses to the Aggies.

Arkansas takes out for an inter-sectional test, meeting Tulsa at Fayetteville, while Texas Christian the other conference teams rests up for the big push down the stretch.

Wray Has Experience in Lumber

Bill Wray, local lumber dealer, started work in the lumber yard owned by Barton Manfield chain in 1934, located at the present site of First National Bank. In 1938, he took a book-keeping position with the Hempstead County Lumber Company, owned by the Ozan Lumber Co. of Prescott, later becoming manager of this Hope branch until entering the Navy in World War II.

After his discharge from the Navy in 1946, Wray entered into a partnership with Joe Hutson and opened the City Lumber Co. on North Main street. In 1953, Bill sold his interest to his partner and opened the Bill Wray Supply Company at its present location at 510 South Walnut St. He has been the Dutch Boy paint dealer for 23 years.

At midmorning, gale winds were smacking coastal resort towns around Charleston. Meanwhile, businesses in the downtown area began closing so employees could get home.

Up and down the coast, residents boarded up store fronts and took other precautions as they waited for the storm's next move.

Ginny first flexed her muscles off the Carolina coast last week. The unpredictable lady became a hurricane Sunday night. Early in the week she headed southward before turning around to set a steady northward course for the Carolina.

Hurricane warnings were in effect from Charleston northward 150 miles to Cape Fear, N.C.

"Winds of hurricane force may reach the vicinity of Charleston this afternoon and progress up the coast to the North Carolina line tonight," the Weather Bureau said.

Gales from Ginny extended outward 175 miles over the ocean to the northeast and about 100 miles to the southeast of the center. The gales whipped the Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina coasts. Gale warnings were in effect from Charleston to Brunswick, Ga.

Schools along coastal South Carolina were closed today. Some businesses with exposed fronts began boarding and taping up windows this morning.

All aircraft at the Charleston Air Force Base which could not be placed in hangars were The Weather Bureau said that fickle Ginny might still veer a little to the northeast. But that was no consolation since the hurricane force winds, which whirled in front of the deal-calm eye, would still rake the coast.

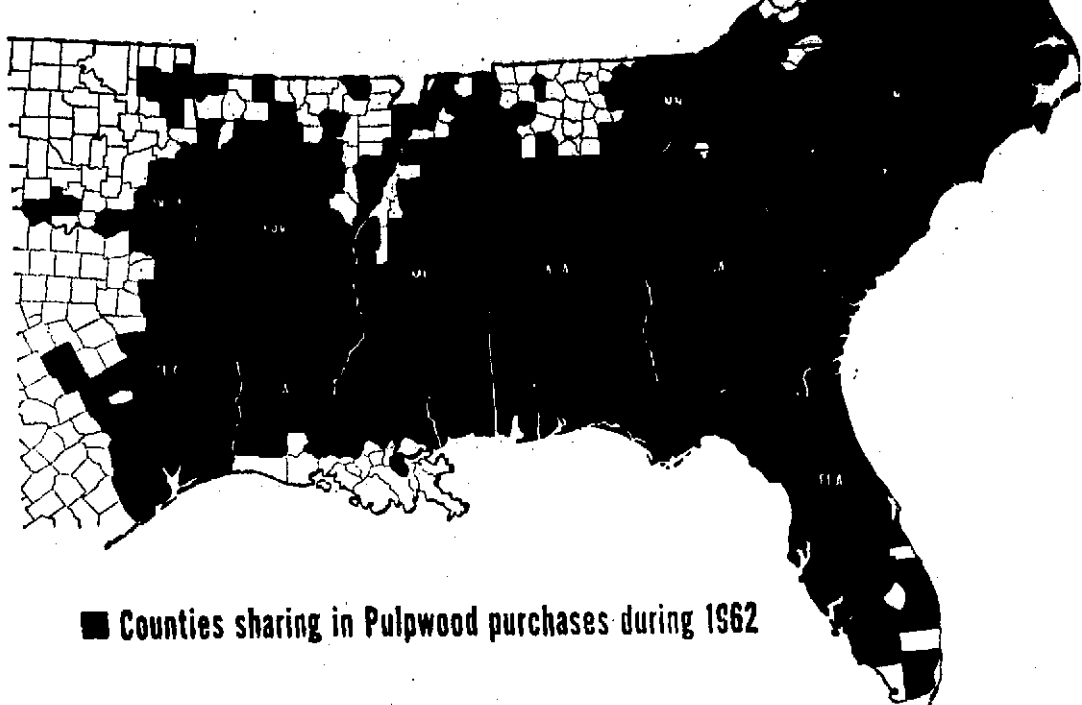

Moses Lopez, hurricane watch supervisor in Charleston, said high seas and rough surf were general along the South Carolina coast with winds beginning to increase slowly. Rain fell at several points.

Charleston's city, county and parochial schools were closed. Beach residents were prepared for immediate evacuation. Ships at the Charleston Naval Base were ready to move up the Ashley River to safer moorings and transport planes at Charleston Air Force base were alerted for evacuation to New Mexico.

Most of the Florida east coast — where Ginny drifted is building her peak winds up to 95 miles an hour—basked in the kind of sunny, dry weather that draws tourists.

THE SOUTH...Pulpwood Capital of the World

Counties sharing in Pulpwood purchases during 1962

ATLANTA, GA.—Pulpwood, the raw material of the pulp and paper industry, was harvested in 90 per cent of the South's counties during 1962. On the accompanying map, prepared by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, Atlanta, the blacked-out area covers those counties which shared in supplying $500 million worth of wood to the South's pulp and paper mills. Pointing out that this indicates the extent of the pulp and paper industry's importance to communities throughout the region, SPCA General Manager H. J. Malsberger said also that the South produced 60 per cent of the nation's total harvest of pulpwood in 1962. "Production in this region," he added, "was greater than that of any single foreign country or of any area of comparable size in the world."

saying to woodland owners: grow all types of wood products rather than just one product. Diversified woodland management is the word, Brown said.

A good example of diversified management is that practiced by the Gunter Brothers on their woodlands. They thin their woodlands when the woods become crowded and sell the thinnings for the best price. This may include several types of products. Additionally they have one of the best woodland-range (cattle) programs in Arkansas. Using a well regulated range schedule the cattle are rotated into woodlands having a good yield of range grasses. This program makes use of native grasses which might otherwise be lost and no damage is done to the young pine trees by using a rotation system. This provides almost as much income as do the wood products.

"We feel that we have a well balanced woodland program in Hempstead County. Since World War II some 15,000 acres have been planted to trees, and during the same period 20,000 acres have received 'TSI' (timber stand improvement). TSI is the practice of deadening cull and weed trees to make room for fast growing pine and high quality hardwood.

Although pine is an important tree in Hempstead County we shouldn't overlook the hardwoods. Hardwoods are growing in importance. One of Hope's leading wood products is hickory and ash. There will always be a demand for straight and high quality ash and hickory. Farmers and woodland owners having either ash or hickory which are straight and of good quality should save these trees. They are not only valuable for handle stock, but are good squirrel and wildlife trees. And certainly sweetgum, red and white oaks which are of good quality should be managed since these trees are of prime importance to the County's economy.

"We anticipate that woodland acreage in Hempstead County will decrease about 3% by 1975. This is not to say that we don't appreciate our woodlands. It is to say that we anticipate some of the poorer woodlands to be converted to other land uses such as pasture.

In spite of the slight drop in woodland acreage we anticipate an increase in woodland production. The increase is expected due to the tree plantations, established after World War II, coming into production.

Also we can expect woodland production to increase as a result of TSI and the fact the farmers and woodland owners are practicing better management.

In view of the expected increase we believe there is an excellent opportunity for getting new wood using industries into Hempstead County", George Brown concluded.

Busy Slate for State High Court

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court faces a busy winter.

Pending on the court docket are 126 cases and appeals continue to come in at a rate of about one a day.

The backlog started building up in March and continued during the court's three-month summer recess when no cases are decided.

The March start is necessary because attorneys do not have time to perfect appeals filed during March before the court recesses after the first week in June.

The court disposes of between seven and 14 cases a week, delivering opinions on Monday. It usually dismisses appeals on Mondays, too, but sometime dismissal orders may be signed during the week.

October activity is indicative of the court's work. There were 27 cases filed and 26 disposed of.

Fourteen of the pending appeals are criminal cases and five involve the death penalty.

Also on appeal is the first degree murder conviction of Frederick Rush of Fort Smith who got a life sentence in the slaying of his father.

The oldest criminal appeal is that of Luther Bailey, a Woodson Negro, who is asking the court to reverse his second conviction for rape of a Little Rock white woman in 1956. Bailey faces a death sentence.

Politicians Back Sheriff for Job

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Crittenden County political leaders are backing James C. Mann, a 64-year-old planter of the James Mill community, for appointment as sheriff of Crittenden County.

Early signers include state Sen. W. K. Ingram and state Reps. Lloyd McCuiston and Cecil B. Nance Jr.

Mann has been a justice of the peace in his township for 15 years.

West Memphis Mayor Bob Eden said the petitions will be taken to Little Rock within the next few days.

The man appointed will serve until January 1965.

Canadian Ship Workers End Strike

MONTREAL (AP) — Stalled inland ship traffic began moving today after members of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada voted to end their four-day walkout protesting a government trusteeship.

A majority of the 2,000 SIU members along the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway voted Thursday night to go back to work after their controversial president, Hal C. Banks, met in Ottawa with the three federal trustees appointed Wednesday to take control of Canada's five maritime unions. The walkout had tied up at least 91 inland cargo vessels on eastern waters since Monday.

Banks told SIU members in Montreal the trustees had agreed not to interfere with the union's internal affairs; that the SIU's officers and its constitution would not be changed; that the trustees would not occupy the SIU headquarters building in Montreal; that the other unions under trusteeship would not be allowed to tamper with SIU members, and that the SIU would appoint a liaison officer to work with the trustees.

In theory, the SIU men were to remain off their ships until all members of the union had voted. But by late Thursday night some were back at work and ships that had been tied up began to move along the Seaway.

"We're moving everywhere," said a spokesman for Canada Steamship Lines, largest of the fleets affected by the walkout.

The three trustees, headed by Justice Victor L. Dryer of Vancouver, said they would now turn to a close internal study of the SIU and the other unions.

The five unions represent 22,000 Canadian sailors, engineers and deck hands. The SIU, representing about 15,000, was the only one of the five to oppose the trusteeship plan.

Bruner Ivory Got Start Back in 1888

W. E. Bruner, Founder of Bruner Ivory Handle Company, began shaving handles by hand in Northern Missouri in 1888, moved to Arkansas in 1904. In 1901, Tom King and associates founded the Ivory Handle Co. of Hope.

In 1933 W. E. Bruner & Sons of Heber Springs purchased the Ivory Handle Company of Hope, merged the two businesses, consolidating their business at Hope and formed the Bruner Ivory Handle Company.

The plant today has two divisions, No. 1 for the Manufacture of Hickory Axe, Pick, Hammer, Hatchet Sledge and kindred handles. No. 2, for the manufacture of Ash Fork, Rake, Hoe, Shovel and kindred handles.

Branch plants, producing raw material are located at El Dorado, Thornton and in Grant County Arkansas. Other mills producing handle blanks for Bruner Ivory are located in Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana.

The annual payroll of the Hope plant is nearly $700,000, with an average of 200 employees.

Approximately 3,000,000 handles are produced annually, and are shipped to every state in the union, as well as to Canada, Mexico, South America, Africa, Europe and Asia, Australia and New Zealand. Many of these handles bear Bruner Ivory labels and brands, spreading the name and fame of Hope throughout the world.

Negro Pastor of All White Church

By DON CARSON

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Rev. Wilbur R. Johnson and his 200-member Methodist congregation share a challenge. He is a Negro.

For at least nine more months, church leaders throughout the nation will be watching to see whether the minister and the congregation can share their worship of God in this unique union.

Handed a standard one-year assignment last summer, Johnson hopes he can remain at least five years.

The minister is a 43-year-old Californian and father of two. He has lived a relatively quiet life, married only by a teenage bout with polio which left his legs skinny and weak.

Thus far, he thinks his acceptance by the Pueblo Garden Methodist Church has been good.

"I've had no rebuffs in home or hospital calls," he said. "I got through my first funeral without any problems."

The reaction of his parishioners varies.

Said one: "He's an individual, that's all. My family likes him. I haven't heard anything bad from anyone who has met him."

Another said: "I'm trying. I'm trying. But it's hard. If I needed spiritual help in an emergency, I'm not sure I could call him. If we just aren't overwhelmed with new Negro members, I think I can make it."

The church is located near a Negro neighborhood. Two Negroes are expected to be taken into membership this fall. The church has had only one Negro member in recent years. He was the choir director.

Sheriff Proud of Copper Liquor Still

THOMASTON, Ga. (AP)—Sheriff E. T. Bray is proud of his copper liquor still—it is in good enough condition to put on public display.

"We've tried for a long time to get a still that we could put up for display and let the public see what one looks like," he said Wednesday. Bray and state revenue agents found the still on a recent raid.

"It's a well-built still and looks like a model operation," Bray said. "I know it will run because it was running when we captured it."

Famed Four Horsemen Best Known

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford's Ernie Nevers turned to Notre Dame's Elmer Layden and observed wryly, "I made two of my longest runs that day, both times chasing you."

His observations went back 38 years to New Year's Day of 1925 when the Four Horsemen of Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl, the only bowl appearance for a Fighting Irish team.

Now for the first time since that date, the Four Horsemen and some of the Stanford players they met have gathered together on the West Coast.

Each of the group has passed the 60-year mark and each of the Horsemen is heavier than during the days when they actually comprised a pony backfield for the great Knute Rockne.

Maybe you can remember. Layden was the fullback at 162 pounds. Halfbacks Don Miller and Jim Crowley each weighed 164, with Harry Stuhldreher the 159-pound quarterback.

Those were the men who the late Grantland Rice called the Four Horsemen after Notre Dame's 1924 team beat Army 13-7... a name that caught on to bring lasting fame to a quartet that would look mighty small compared with some of the 1963 college backfields.

Today in California for Saturday's Notre Dame-Stanford football game, they are:

Layden, 60, weighing 167 and a sales and customer relations executive for a corporation manufacturing and leasing railroad cars in Chicago.

Crowley, 61, now 200 pounds and the executive director of the Industrial Development Commission of Northeast Pennsylvania with headquarters in Scranton.

Miller, 60, and 196, a practicing attorney in Cleveland.

Stuhldreher, 62 and 170, an executive in human relations for the United States Steel Corp., living in Pittsburgh.

In the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1, 1925 they proved too much for Stanford and Nevers, now a 60-year-old public relations executive at a trim 212 pounds.

Layden intercepted two of Nevers' passes, running 80 and 70 yards for touchdowns with Ernie in pursuit.

All four think Rice for the Four Horseman label. Crowley says, "it opened a lot of doors for us," and Miller added, "it was the luckiest day of our lives that day Grantland Rice went to the Polo Grounds. We may not have been the best

Illinois Respects the Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Illinois, unbeaten, once-tied and ranked fourth among the college football powers of the nation, takes on UCLA, beaten four times, at Los Angeles tonight but don't think for a moment that the Illini are taking it all lightly.

It's not that Coach Pete Elliott and his aroused Illini fear the Bruins. It's more a case of savoring each victory after two long, lean seasons where a single triumph was as sweet as a Rose Bowl conquest.

Illinois was 0-9 in 1961 and 2-7 in 1962 and just about this time last year the Illini were staggering from their 15th straight defeat, a 28-16 loss to Southern California.

Now with quarterback Mike Taliaferro and linebacker center Dick Butkus in the stellar roles Illinois is a contender for the Big Ten title and a shot at the Rose Bowl. The Illini are 4-0-1 over-all and 2-0-1 in the conference. A week ago they whacked Minnesota 16-6.

UCLA is a young team just like Illinois was a year ago. The Bruins are 1-4-0 over-all but are tied for first in the Big Six with Washington, each 1-0. A week ago the Bruins showed promise despite a 27-12 loss to Notre Dame.

The Saturday program is highlighted by a clash between Pittsburgh and Navy that probably will decide the Eastern championship.

Although Pitt, 4-0, is one of the seven remaining unbeaten-united major teams and is ranked third to Navy's tenth the Middles are favored to win by about a field goal on their home grounds.

Texas, the all-conquering, top-ranking team of the nation, is another high-riding outfit that won't take an underdog foe for granted. The Longhorns, 5-0-0, are at home at night against Rice, 3-1-0. Texas is favored by about two touchdowns.

Of the other games featuring teams in the Top Ten, close contests are expected in only the two matching Big Ten Conference rivals.

Second-ranked Wisconsin, 4-0-0, entertains Ohio State, 2-1-1. The Buckeyes may rebound from its 32-3 shellacking by Southern California.

Fifth-ranked Mississippi, 3-0-1, is home to winless Vanderbilt, 0-4-0; hapless Houston, 0-5-0 visits its sixth-ranked Alabama, 4-1-0 and seventh-ranked Oklahoma, 3-1-0, travels to Kansas State, 1-4-0. Eighth-ranked Auburn, 5-0-0, is idle this week.

Dartmouth, which has won 15 straight, will have plenty to handle from unbeaten Harvard 2-0-2, in a key Ivy League at Cambridge, Mass. Princeton is at home against dangerous Cornell, 2-2-0. Bowling Green has a

"USE WOOD FOR THE COMMON GOOD"

Is More Than Just A Slogan

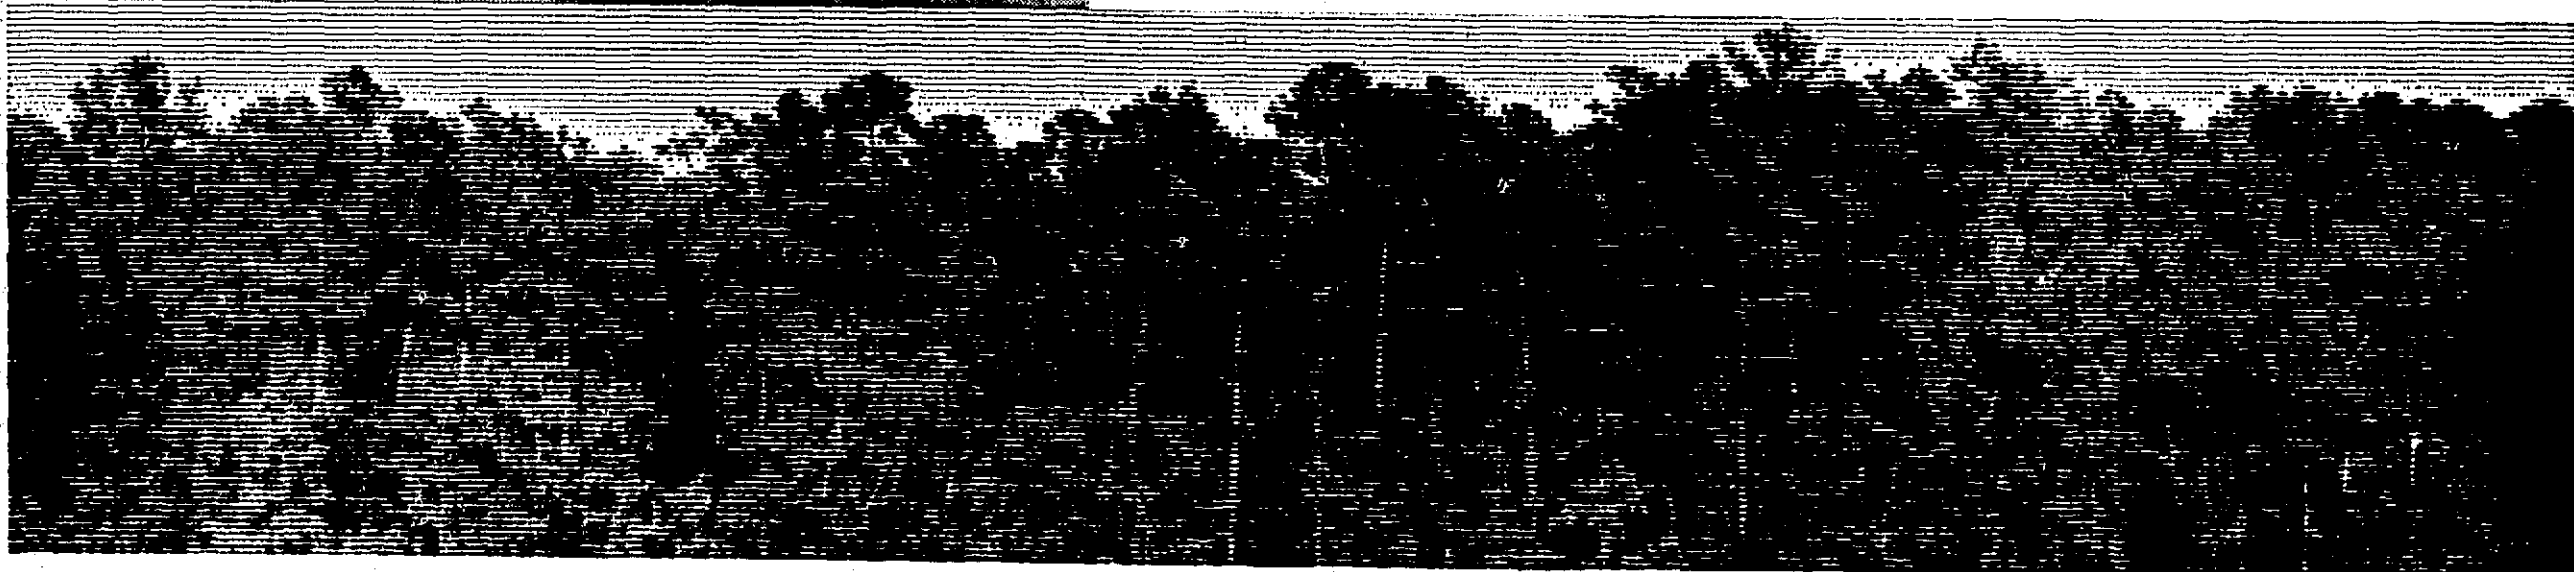

"It's a way of life in Arkansas . . . and a good one, too!
Arkansas' forest industries mean 33,000 jobs for our people!
This means that 39% of all manufacturing employees in the state derive their living from wood-using industries.

"Our state's forest industries account for $92 million annually, or one-third of the total manufacturing income in Arkansas.
In addition, thousands of Arkansas farmers are deriving income from the sale of timber from their farm wood lots.
In fact, we are growing so much wood, the time has come for loyal Arkansans to act as enthusiastic salesmen for the state's most valuable natural resource . . . timber.

"It's more important than ever for Arkansans to build more homes, churches, and schools with Arkansas wood.
So, let's promote wood products in all forms, every chance we get.
When we do, it means continued prosperity for all of us.
Let's bring to life the slogan 'Use Wood for the Common Good'
—and watch our state's per capita income continue its dramatic rise."

THE NIGHT, THE WOMAN

At that moment Chief Kresh and Patrolman Lanson came out of the house. The chief had something in his hand — a closed right hand. Crossing the patio, he brought the small object to Barcello. It gave off a brilliant glitter as Barcello took it.

"Right smack where you might expect to find it — under some underclothes in a dresser drawer."

It was a finger ring set with a large emerald.

"The bay bottom where Mrs. Hayward's boat was anchored is unusually smooth and hard," Barcello said. "It seemed a little strange — we found her wrist watch but not her ring. You thought it was much too valuable to throw away, didn't you, Mrs. Wingate?"

Tessa seemed totally unable to take her eyes from it.

Now the man Barcello had brought with him — a technician from the crime lab, Blake assumed — came into the patio from the direction of the garage, carrying his case. He stopped at Barcello's shoulder and spoke one word. It was so nearly a whisper that Blake almost missed it: "Positive."

Barcello nodded, his soft, sad eyes on Tessa. "Mrs. Wingate, I must ask you to come with me."

Her reaction was explosive. She took a threatening step toward him, at the same time tossing the crumpled warrant away. Her face was contorted with fury, her voice shrill — and it flashed through Blake's mind how like Val she was at that instant.

"Why should I go with you? Why are you doing this to me? — torturing me! You already know who killed Val Hayward." She pointed straight at Blake. "He did!"

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Wingate, but we have a better case against

2nd Chrysler Stock Split Suggested

By CHARLES C. CAIN

AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Directors of Chrysler Corp., which split its stock 2-for-1 last April, voted today to recommend to shareholders the stock be split again in the same ratio.

The directors, who met in New York, declared a dividend of 25 cents a share for the fourth quarter of 1963 and also declared a dividend for the first quarter of 1964 and 25 cents on each share of stock after giving effect to the proposed stock split.

Tonight's Game Could Decide Dist. Champs

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sportswriter

Top spot in the District seems to be the prize to the winner of the Hope-Magnolia joust tonight in Hammons Stadium. While it would be almost impossible for the Cats to drop beneath first place, they might have to share that spot if Magnolia can come out on top of this one, since the Leopards are holding a firm grip on the second rung of the 4AA ladder, with a 2-1 record.

The Leopards have suffered only two losses this year. Both came from breaks. They fell to DeQueen in non-loop play, and Smackover took a conference game from them 13-7.

Magnolia can depend on speed and power on the ground, and they also have a fair passing attack. The defensive unit (they're strictly a two-unit club) can also hold up its end to the bargain. They have given up less yardage than any other 4AA club. (40 yards total offense to Malvern last week.)

A big part of the offense is 195-pound QB Mickey Christian, sworn by some to be at least seven feet tall, but actually just over six. He is a good passer, and runs like a fullback. He never bothers to cut, just runs over anybody in his way. Halfbacks Sonny Carol and Dorsey Bearden are extra fast, providing a good breakaway threat. Rounding out the backfield is Stanton, 180 lb., who provides the power up the middle.

Key men on defense will be center Paul Whitley, 6'2", 180, and tackle Mac Alwhite, also a 6'2" 180-pounder. Christian also plays tackle on defense.

This is the first time in almost twenty years that Magnolia has still been in the running this late in the year, so they will be just like a bunch of maniacs. And when somebody's as wild as that, anything can happen.

Fans are encouraged to come out and see the Bobcats in their last conference game at home, while they shoot for their seventh win in a row.

Americans Tied in 1st Round Play

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

PARIS (AP)—"Now we've got to go," Arnold Palmer told partner Jack Nicklaus today as the two Americans started the second round of the Canada Cup golf competition in a first-place tie with Canada.

Palmer and Nicklaus totaled 136 Thursday—eight under par, with Nicklaus shooting a 67 and Palmer a 69. Canadians Al Balding and Stan Leonard had the same total. South Africans Gary Player and Retief Goosen had 138. Spaniards Sebastian Miguel and Roman Sota followed at 138.

In the concurrent individual competition, Miguel's 66—six under par for the par 72 Saint-nom-la-Bretche course—led Nicklaus and Balding by a stroke, with Player and Ireland's Christy O'Connor tied at 68 and Palmer locked with Leonard at 69.

Both competitions are over 72 holes. The tournament ends Sunday.

The magic crowd-pulling power of Palmer and Nicklaus has spread here in a way that has left French officials admitting

Brown, Pals Ready to Slam Giants

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Brown and friends are poised to deliver the knockout blow to the New York Giants Sunday in the most important National Football League game of the week. A victory for Cleveland would leave the defending Eastern champs three games back with seven to go in the second half of the season.

The Browns' front four of Paul Wiggins, Frank Parker, Bob Gain and Bill Glass put tremendous pressure on Y. A. Tittle while Brown romped in Cleveland's 35-24 victory two weeks ago. The Giants tightened up in the second half last week against Dallas but there was no Jimmy Brown thundering into that line.

Green Bay will find out how it can move the ball without Bart Starr when the Packers invade Baltimore and Chicago will try to bounce back from that upset in San Francisco by playing the injury-riddled Philadelphia Eagles. St. Louis will play at Washington. Dallas at Pittsburgh, Minnesota at Detroit and San Francisco at Los Angeles in other NFL games.

The American Football League has two Saturday night games with Boston playing at Buffalo and Denver at New York. The Sunday AFL schedule calls for Oakland at San Diego and Kansas City at Houston.

Last week's upset didn't come off (Green Bay thumped St. Louis 30-7) but we're still keeping our head above water with a 37-25-4 for the year. Here's the way it looks this week with all games Sunday unless otherwise indicated:

Berra Facing His Stiffest Challenge

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra, regarded as one of the greatest clutch hitters in baseball during his playing days, faces the stiffest challenge of his life as manager of the proud New York Yankees.

The 38-year-old wonder will have a lot of things going for him when he assumes command but he will find that all his popularity and reputation as a star and durable performer will help little if he fails to produce a pennant winner.

The Yankees since 1921 have won 28 pennants and 20 world championships. Under the guidance of Casey Stengel and Ralph Houk, Berra's immediate predecessors, the Yankees have won 13 pennants in 15 years. Stengel won 10 of 12 and Houk three of three.

Those are big shoes Berra is coming as somewhat of a surprise when co-owner Dan Topping announced Thursday that Berra had agreed to only a one-year contract.

Among the questions asked of Berra during a press conference was which was the club to beat for the pennant.

"Our club," he replied promptly.

"The clubs I figure to give us the most trouble are Chicago and Minnesota. I keep saying each year that Detroit looks good. I still think so. Also Baltimore should be up there."

Berra insisted the one-year idea was his own. "I feel if I can't do the job, I don't want it. I want to get a taste of it for one year. If I find I can't manage I'll quit. If I find that I could, I'll stick around a little bit, I hope."

So eager was Berra for the job, he accepted a cut in salary. His contract calls for $55,000, the same sum paid to Stengel and Houk in their first year of managing. Yogi, as a player-coach last season, earned $40,000. His top salary during the years he was winning Most Valuable Player awards was around $55,000.

"I feel if I am not capable of managing, I don't deserve a big salary," he said. "Besides, it wasn't such a big cut."

Lindsey Out as Porks Go After Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas' Razorbacks, who played top-ranked Texas right down to the wire last week before losing 17-13, try to tame Tulsa University's passing attack in Razorback Stadium here Saturday.

The Hurricane has one of the outstanding passing combinations in the country in quarterback Jerry Rhome and end John Simmons. Simmons leads the nation in pass-catching with 31 for 404 yards in four games.

Tulsa is 2-2 and Arkansas is 2-3, and the Hurricane thinks it may have its best chance in five years to beat the Razorbacks. Tulsa hasn't won since 1958.

Arkansas will be going with almost the same youthful backfield which outgained Texas in the second half of last week's battle. Quarterback Jon Brittenum and tailback Jackie Brasuell are sophomores, wingback Stan Sparks is a junior.

But the Razorbacks will be without the services of their leading rusher—sophomore fullback Jim Lindsey, who is sidelined with a thigh bruise. Coach Frank Broyles named junior Bobby Reynolds to start in Lindsey's spot.

Tulsa will miss the services of halfback Kenny Boone, who has an injured knee. Arkansas still will be without guard Tommy Brasher and wingback George Walker, lettermen who are out with knee injuries.

A crowd of 27,000 is expected for the 2 p.m. (CST) kickoff.
